

JUVENILE DIABETES SOCIETY

Juvenile Diabetes Society (JDS) is a voluntary, non-profit public service institution committed to diabetes care, particularly as it pertains to children and youth.

JDS activities include health education and counselling, social support, monthly group meetings, summer and winter camps for children and youth with diabetes, and publication of a quarterly newsletter 'CHALLENGE' which is a knowledge resource and useful guide to people and families with diabetes mellitus.

For further details contact :

Juvenile Diabetes Society
E 14/4A, Vasant Vihar
New Delhi - 110 057, India
Tel. 673626

NOTE : The 4th "Camp for children and youth with diabetes" will be held between 25 Dec. 89 and 03 Jan. 90 at the Sri Aurobindo Ashram, New Delhi. Children & youth with diabetes, family members and interested medical / health care students /professionals are invited to attend. Travel grants and camp scholarships are available; please write to JDS for details.